

Q. Page 15. Is Profit an allowable expense? For instance, can the bidder claim Administrative Cost of 10% on Total Direct Costs and Profit up to 10% of Total Direct Costs.

A. The selected provider to operate an Eastside Youth Opportunity program will receive funding from Baltimore City's General Funds account. The City's General Funds does not restrict a bidder from factoring in a reasonable profit and also administrative costs. Applicants should note pages 7 and 30 of the RFP referencing allowable costs as reasonable and necessary.

Q. Does the Mayor's Office of Employment Development have requirements on certain percentage of funds that must be allocated to Training Expenditures that bidder must propose in their budget?

A. No, MOED does not require a specific percentage of the budget to be allocated to training.

Q. Who is the current provider for these or similar services being offered through this RFP?

A. The current organization providing services for the Eastside Youth Opportunity program is the Historic East Baltimore Community Action Coalition (HEBCAC)

Q. Is the selected provider required to be the Employer of Record for On-the-Job (OJT) Training, subsidized wages or YouthWorks Summer Jobs Program?

A. No.
